Comedy Festival, Comedy @ Trades

It used to be that celebrities were born of talent...or crime. But with the birth of reality TV, celebrity has become a lottery. Are you holding a winning ticket without realising it? Come to Deborah Frances-White's How Almost Anyone Can Become an Overnight Celebrity and let this engaging UK performer share with you her rigorous research on the secrets of celebrity and how she convinced London media that she was one.

From winning 'Deal Or No Deal' in an attempt to win back an ex-girlfriend, through encountering multiple flashers on a mountain in Spain, to accidentally punching a girl in the face (twice) in front of 50 people, Dave Bushell has done some stuff in his life. You would think that he'd have learnt some lessons from that; that there would be a moral at the end of his stories, but he hasn't, and there isn't, and in Let The Kid Go we find that things just don't work like that.

Who Is Priscilla Irving? It's the question on everyone's lips, so in this portable, almost entirely aural comedy experience Lou Sanz explores this perplexing question by trawling through the crap from her life. Now residing in the Bystander Bar.

10 years of comedy, 10 years of steady decline. In 10th Anniversary of Failure, Nick Caddaye revisits past shows about time traveling improvisers, the gold rush, a doomed German circus, a 108 year old drug addict and shows us what a decade of largely ignored comedy gets you.

It's back! With added faux-campfire! Storytellers' Club, the cult phenomenon of the Edinburgh Fringe Festival returns to Trades Hall in 2009. After 2008's successful debut, Storytellers' returns with more magical eves of bedtime stories and campfire tales. Each show features different comedians and musicians from all over the globe weaving tales to blow your mind and break your heart.

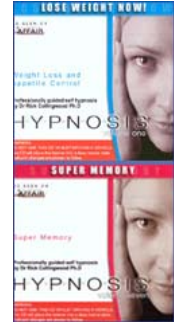

The Anarchist Guild Social Committee present A Fine Selection, a collection of some of Australia's finest young comics coming together to present a brand new extravaganza of sketch comedy goodness. AGSC present their final selection of pure, unalloyed mirth, carefully selected from the past year of their regular monthly Trades Hall show.

Combine the sheer, childlike absurdism of Buster Keaton with the deft physical intonation of Charlie Chaplin and you have Sam Wills: The Boy with Tape on His Face. This exciting one-man show from New Zealand has been attracting attention across the globe for the past four years, racking up armfuls of awards for 'Best Show', 'Best Show Concept' and a nomination for 'Best Newcomer' at the Melbourne Comedy Festival.

Alexis Dubus - A Bl**dy Brief History Of Swearing is one man's attempt to discover why a handful of words in the English language still have the power to shock, offend and amuse in equal measure. Sure there are plenty of shows containing swearing in Melbourne this year, but only one that goes into detail about our wonderful 4-lettered friends.

Lawrence Leung and Andrew McClelland are Time Ninjas. They've have stumbled upon time travel and now they're going forward to the past to make things better. Hopefully. The duo who asked you to join their Somewhat Secret Secret Society Show present a mind-bending comedy that will go down in history...or potentially destroy it. Time Ninjas has also just been nominated for the

Time	7:00pm
Tickets	$20.00 full, $15.00 concession, $10.00 groups of 10 or more
Bookings	northcotetownhall.com.au / 03 9481 9500
Akoch Manhiem arrived in Australia as a Sudanese 'Lost Boy'. He's returning to his village for the first time in almost a decade. His bags are packed and his flag is in hand - but will he return Sudanese?
Also starring comedian Trent McCarthy and singer Ajak Kwai, Returning Sudanese is the hilarious and heartfelt sequel to last year's sell-out show, Turning Sudanese, which followed McCarthy's amusing integration into Melbourne's Sudanese community.
This groundbreaking new comedy, which premieres this Friday, 17 April at Northcote Town Hall, follows Akoch's journey from a world of cars and electricity to a far flung village steeped in tribal customs. The show combines hilarious video footage from Akoch's recent trip to Sudan with fast-paced theatrical storytelling and musical interludes.
Audiences will be captivated by Akoch's natural charm and comic talent, as he encounters a suite of colourful characters portrayed by Trent McCarthy.
McCarthy's previous shows include Who is Abdul Smith? (Melbourne Fringe 2008), Turning Sudanese (MICF 2008) and Confessions of a Talkback Junkie (MICF 2007). He also appears in the quirky political satire, Mo the Plumber in this year's Comedy Festival, alongside Mohammed El-leissy.
Returning Sudanese is a show you won't forget, and the type of comedy we need to see more of in Melbourne.

After the roaring success of the first Trade Aid show of 2009 - The Anarchist Guild Social Committee AGM, the good times and good vibes continue with too more spectacular shows:
So You Drink? You Can Dance! is back and this time they're doing it for a good cause! Miss Anna and Mister Nick want to see your moves and we're offering glamorous prizes for the best and of course the worst. Backed by a live band featuring Casey Bennetto (Evening - A Cabaret), Enio Pozzebon (Kiosk), Eden Ottignon (Kiosk) and Alon Ilsar (The Colors), you too can cut-the-rug with the best of them at So You Drink? You Can Dance! this Saturday 11th of April. Dress up, get a cocktail into you and hit the floor!
Amongst the special guests on the night will be Oliver Clark, Andrew McClelland, Felicity Redman-Wills, The Birdman, Aurora Kurth and The Boy With Tape On His Face.
Proceeds go to Autism Victoria
Round out the good works, on Saturday 18th April the ASRC Benefit returns. Last year our star-studded line-up tackled Prince. Now Major Tom's getting a workout in Life on Mars? So who is included in Casey Bennetto and Scott Edgar's line up this year?

Among those covering Bowie's greatest hits we have Heath McIvor, Steven Gates, Clare Bowditch, Geraldine Quinn, Jordie Lane, Tasha Coates (The Audreys), Tim Minchin, The Bedroom Philosopher, Wes Snelling and many, many more! Who will tackle Starman? Will there be a fight over who gets to do Rebel Rebel? And will anyone dare to cover the songs from The Labyrinth, let alone try to wear those pants!?

Proceeds go to Asylum Seekers' Resource Centre

La Voce: A gourmet night of Italian fare with Opera Australia
Date	Saturday 9 May 2009
Tickets	$250 PER PERSON
Bookings	Opera Australia: 02 9318 8335

On Saturday 9 May 2009, Opera Australia will present La Voce, a sumptuous evening of gourmet food and wine, aimed at celebrating and supporting the creative development of young artists.

200 guests will be invited to step inside the creative engine room of Opera Australia, the Paint Dock at the Opera Centre in Surry Hills Sydney, where the scenery for new productions is brought to life.

For one night only the Paint Dock will be transformed into a Tuscan-style ballroom, where guests will be treated to exclusive performances from past and present singers of Opera Australia's Young Artist Program, sopranos Taryn Fiebig and Amy Wilkinson, and tenor David Corcoran.

This year's guest chef, James Kidman from The Fink Group's Otto Ristorante, will bring an Italian flavour to the occasion, specially creating a three course menu that captures the feel and flavour of Italy. The menu will be matched with premium wines from Howard Park Wines. Joining the event as Master of Ceremonies is flamboyant conductor and pianist, Brian Castles- Onion.

The event will also feature a silent auction and a limited live auction, conducted by Andrew Caillard MW of Langton's Wine Auctions and Exchange, as well as a Fund-A-Project - an opportunity for guests to offer their support for the Moffatt Oxenbould Opera Australia Young Artist Program. This program aims at nurturing the development of Australia's young opera singers through unique training and employment opportunities. This year's artists are Amy Wilkinson, Stephen Smith, Andrew Moran, Christopher van Tuinen and David Corcoran.

Auction items at La Voce will include:
-The Paspaley Pearl Farm Experience - a 5 day pearling adventure in the remote north-western Australian coastline
-A bodice worn by Joan Carden in Otello
-"La Bella Toscana" - a luxury holiday featuring eight nights in Tuscany courtesy of Diana Eddy and Associates
-A collection of fine French wines from Rupert Rosenblum and Ross Tzannes
-Premium Australian Wines with original wine labels painted by Ray Croke, Criss Canning, Robert Dickerson and William Robinson
-4 nights in New Zealand, with Qantas business class return flights, from Small Luxury Hotels of the World
-An exclusive dinner for at Otto Ristorante with tenor David Corcoran created by chef James Kidman, or in the Sydney Opera House boardroom with soprano Amy Wilkinson
-A preview to the Fred Williams exhibition with Rex Irwin Art Dealer, with a private tour followed by a cocktail party and recital by Opera Australia's Henry Choo
